Software Tools Experience

I have been using computers since 1984, and have used a wide variety of software in that time. Some of the major software applications I have used recently are listed below, with the companies where I used them.

Help Authoring Tools

Author-it

Became one of the first two Author-it Certified Consultants in the world (May 2003); beta tester for v4 and v5.

- Runge Limited
- Fractal Technologies
- BMS Solutions Pty Ltd
- Dolphin Software
- Ramesys Global
- Rosendorffs Diamond Jewellers
- CSBP Fertilisers
- CyberText Consulting Pty Ltd

Other Help Authoring Tools

- Dolphin Software (RoboHelp — converted to Author-it)
- Gemcom Australia Pty Ltd (RoboHelp)
- WMC Resources Limited (HDK)
- Central City Medical Centre (HDK)
- Harman Information Technology Pty Ltd (HTML Help Workshop)
- Boral CMG (HTML Help Workshop)
- Harman Information Technology Pty Ltd (WinHelp)
- Microfusion Pty Ltd (WinHelp)

Other technical writing software

Microsoft Word: I started using Microsoft Word in the early 1990s and have used Word at every company or organisation where I have worked since.

HTML editors: Initially I used applications such as HomeSite and FrontPage, but since about 2000 I have written and edited HTML and CSS code using various text editors, such as EditPlus. Most recently, I have used Microsoft's Expression Web.

Captivate: I have used Adobe Captivate since version 1 to create software demonstration and instructional material for these companies: Chevron Australia, Runge Limited, Fractal Technologies, BMS Solutions Pty Ltd, and Dolphin Software.

Software Industry

(Links to publicly available examples:
http://www.cybertext.com.au/services_doc_samples.htm)

Runge Limited

- Wrote various reference manuals and other user documentation for the Mining Dynamics software products (Author-it).
- Restructured an internal Wiki for a software development team and wrote content for it.
- Member of a team investigating user interface and usability issues for the Mining Dynamics software products.

Fractal Technologies

- Converted the existing FracSIS online Help from RoboHelp to Author-it; continue to maintain this documentation, which includes online Help, Getting Started tutorials, installation guides, etc.
- Wrote the Help for the Spatial Data Server web application (Author-it).
- Wrote the Help for the Mesh application (Author-it).
- Developed numerous software demonstration 'movies' using Adobe Captivate for FracSIS, Mesh, and Spatial Data Server users (won a Merit Award in the Online Communications section of the STC Competition (Australia Chapter) [December 2005] for a selection of these).

Ramesys Global

- Wrote the online help for the Ramesys system (won an Excellence Award in the Online Communications section of the STC Competition (Australia Chapter) (December 2004).
- Produced and edited the online presentation for Placer Dome Canada.
- Converted the System Documentation Word document to online help.

Department of Education and Training

- As part of the SOE team, wrote documentation for end users (teachers) and SOE team (such as configuration documents, system administrator procedures, etc.).
- Edited and updated the content of the Learning Technologies Contracts website.
- Wrote the content and designed the SIDE/SOTA Upgrade Programme website.
- Wrote documentation for homesteads and School of the Air teachers on behalf of the SIDE/SOTA Upgrade Programme.
- Wrote documentation for school users on behalf of the Customer Service Centre.
- Wrote online help for InstallShield's AdminStudio to match the business processes and workflows of the SOE team.
- Edited end-user documentation for 100 Schools Project.
- Edited end-user documentation for Telecommunications Deployment Project.

Gemcom Australia Pty Ltd

- Wrote the online help for ProdTrak stockpile maintenance software.

Dolphin Software

- Wrote the online help for Survey Author and Survey Collator software (won an Excellence Award for the Survey Author online Help in the Online

Communications section of the STC Competition (Australia Chapter) (December 2003).

- Wrote the Getting Started tutorials available from their website.
- Involved in analysing the usability of the GUI of Survey Author and Survey Collator.

BMS Solutions Pty Ltd

- Converted, edited, and repurposed existing paper documentation into online help for various software products; all such documentation now done in Author-it.
- Wrote new paper documentation and converted it into online help for various software products.
- Wrote Technical Manual for installation of various software products.
- Wrote online help for internal knowledge base.
- Developed software demonstration 'movies' using Adobe Captivate for internal and external clients (won an Excellence Award in the Online Communications section of the STC Competition (Australia Chapter) [December 2005] for an internal training tutorial for BMS staff).
- Wrote a policies and procedures online help manual for one of the divisions of the company
- Wrote new, and converted and edited existing paper tutorials, into online tutorials (HTML and PDF output) using an XML product (Toot-o-matic) and XMLSpy; since converted to Author-it for various output formats.
- Involved in analysing the usability of the GUI of the BMS suite of products.
- Created an online help file for the BMS developers of the most common GUI decisions.
- Developed Flash and Camtasia tutorials for performing specific tasks in the BMS suite of products.
- Created new graphics for the marketing presentations, and edited and rewrote the content of these presentations.
- Designed the internal newsletter for the development team.

Dynamic Digital Depth, Inc.

- Wrote complete online help for Client and Server software users of DeepSee Studio Pro.
- Wrote training tutorials for client and server processes in DeepSee Studio Pro.
- Wrote new processes and updated existing business processes for the Content Business Unit.
- Wrote new training manual for DeepSee Photo Lite, and updated HTML help files.
- Wrote new online help for OpticBOOM Photo software.
- Updated HTML help files for OpticBOOM Plug-in (which won the "Best of Show" award, Entertainment category, at Internet World, Spring 2001).

Harman Information Technology Pty Ltd

- Responsible for writing all end user documentation for software developed by Harman IT (WinHelp, HTML Help, HTML, and Microsoft Word). This included:
 - Network Printer Manager (WinHelp)
 - Software Distribution Toolkit (HTML Help)
 - Bookmark Central (HTML)
 - Asset Management System (HTML)
 - VETWork Placement System (Word).
- I was also involved in the redesign and rewrite of the EduWiz manual, and was responsible for testing the VETWork Placement System.
- Wrote feasibility study on converting SAP WinHelp files to HTML for distribution on Hamersley Iron's intranet. As part of this feasibility study I investigated the many different Help authoring tools available on the market, and their capabilities in converting WinHelp files to HTML and/or HTML Help. The results of those tests (though not the Feasibility Study) are available at http://www.cybertext.com.au/tips_WinHelp.htm.

Microfusion Pty Ltd

- Responsible for writing user documentation, training manuals, and user Newsletters. From 1994 I was solely responsible for writing all training manuals for use in the 10 Microfusion software training courses. I also wrote the 650+ page user manual for the previous Microfusion software, converted the print manual to HTML, and wrote the on-line help (WinHelp) for Microfusion's current software. I was responsible for all graphics, hypergraphics 'hotspot' editing, compilation etc. of this on-line manual and its associated context-sensitive Help. I also tested the conversion of this document into Microsoft HTML Help. I was the editor and author of Microfusion's user Newsletter for 4 years. This quarterly newsletter was distributed to more than 700 customers Australia-wide.
- Responsible for writing specifications for interpretation by programmers re: user needs in software. My initial employment with Microfusion was as a result of being a user of the early software product and regularly offering 'constructive criticism' as to how the software should work from a user's point of view. In my work with Microfusion I was intimately involved in this process and it was a key feature of my role as Information and Communications Manager. My understanding of my previous profession and all its processes, gave me a unique perspective on how the software should ideally work. It was my role to not only find out what users want (through focus groups), but to put those needs into specifications which could be interpreted and implemented by programmers. I was then involved in the design stage, working closely with programmers, and the alpha testing stage where I had first look at the product I designed in co-operation with others. I was also in charge of the beta testing program, and made the final decisions as to programming priorities. The new product, Informatif, was a direct result of my research and specifications.

Sons of Gwalia Limited

- Created Word templates and reformatted the HSE documents to match these templates in preparation for uploading to the intranet.
- Created PowerPoint presentation on searching the Safety Intranet.
- Wrote instructions for safety officers in uploading and editing documents for the Safety Intranet.

AngloGold Limited

- Wrote Quick Reference Sheets for SAP upgrade (modules: PM, FI, AM, CO, HR).
- Developed iTutor lessons for SAP upgrade (modules: PM, FI, AM, CO).
- Developed HTML Help navigation interface for SAP upgrade documentation (Quick Reference Sheets and iTutor lessons).

Cawse Nickel Operations

- Updated training module documents to reflect current leaching and refining processes.
- Wrote new, and updated existing, procedures for leaching and refining processes.
- Wrote training assessment sheets based on national competency standards for the mining industry.

WMC Resources Limited

While on different contracts at WMC, I was solely responsible for:

- writing or revising all documentation for the Technical Rebuild Project (Windows 2000 rollout);

- writing new documentation for Enterprise Buyer Professional/Quadrem interface to SAP. Documentation included training manuals, facilitators' guides, quick reference cards, and so on. (There was one other technical writer on this project);
- writing a user manual for STT (SAP Simulation Training Tool);
- writing user guidelines for converting from WinHelp to HTML using HDK 3.4;
- the graphical design and subsequent creation of intranet pages for the SAP Responsibility Matrices, as well as documenting the procedures;
- SAP system setup information training packs;
- special training packs for end users;
- other SAP user documentation as required.

I was part of a team of technical writers who continually revised and updated WMC's corporate documentation, especially that related to SAP. Such documentation included:

- Module- and Role-based training packs
- Quick reference cards
- DataShows (PowerPoint presentations)
- SAP Education and Training intranet pages
- Forms for Human Resources
- SAP Online Help.

Other

PhD student

- Set up Word template and styles based on the university's requirements; trained the student in their use.

Rosendorffs Diamond Jewellers

- Wrote policies and procedures manual.

CSBP Fertilisers

- Converted Word documents into Author-it.

Water Corporation

- Wrote quick reference sheets for SAP Corporate Real Estate module.

Boral CMG

- Converted, edited, and repurposed existing paper documentation into online help for internal software product: National Docketing System.

Ministry of Premier and Cabinet

- Created new training courses, and wrote associated training manuals, on Internet Searching and FrontPage 98.

Alpha Travel Pty Ltd

- Created PowerPoint presentation to general public on Cunard/Seabourn cruises.

Education

- Part of being a teacher is writing and planning. In addition to the normal writing and planning done as part of my day-to-day work, I also wrote a course on Study Skills for Year 11s as well as a book to go with it. This course was taught for a number of years, and during that time I also wrote a book on Assignment Writing for students at the school. Heinemann Australia met with me about possible publication of both books.
- Other articles that I had published in local publications included step-by-step methodologies for tackling particular library management tasks, and assessment of the Canadian school library situation. A more scholarly article was published in the Australian Library Journal on my experiences in Canada. A version of this article was published in the Proceedings of the ALIA Conference as a result of the presentation of my paper to that Conference in 1990.
- I reviewed young adult fiction for an Department of Education and Training quarterly publication, Fiction Focus and wrote well over 100 book reviews for this journal.

User Interface Experience

I have been involved with formal and informal user interface reviewing at all the small software companies I have worked for since 1992. As the first 'user' of the product I had to click every button, check every menu option, run every report, open every window etc. to see how the software worked so I could document it accurately. Usability and readability have always been the prime focus of my reviews.

Since 2005, I have spoken to professional groups and at international conferences on the subject of reviewing user interfaces. In 2009, I was a panel member for a session titled "Career Strategies for Embedded UA" at the WritersUA annual conference in Seattle, Washington. Conference presentations are available from:
<http://www.cybertext.com.au/10353.htm>.

Software companies where I was involved in user interface reviews include:

- Runge Limited (formal review)
- Fractal Technologies (formal and informal reviews)
- BMS Solutions Pty Ltd (formal and informal reviews, and usability testing)
- Dolphin Software (formal and informal reviews)
- Ramesys Global (ad hoc reviews)
- Gemcom Australia Pty Ltd (ad hoc reviews)
- Dynamic Digital Depth, Inc. (ad hoc reviews)
- Harman Information Technology Pty Ltd (ad hoc reviews)
- Microfusion Pty Ltd (formal and informal reviews)

Animated software tutorials

- Internal training tutorials on Word 2007 for Gorgon Project HES team members, Chevron Australia (2009-)
- Internal training tutorials for users of Runge's Wiki (2009)
- Internal demonstration tutorials for BMS Solutions Pty Ltd and their clients (2005-2007)
- Demonstration tutorials for FracSIS, Spatial Data Server, and Mesh software (for Fractal Technologies; 2005-2007)

General

- Internal training on Word 2007 and technical writing fundamentals for Gorgon Foundation and Expansion Project HES team members, Chevron Australia (2011)
- Spoke to an undergraduate class at Curtin University's Business School on business entrepreneurship (Sept 2006).
- Delivered PowerPoint training at Pilbara Training Solutions, Karratha on behalf of Lifelong Learning (August 2004)
- Trained West Australian Institute of Sport marketing staff on PaintShop Pro techniques (July 2004)
- Member of a panel discussion on quoting and getting paid for the Society of Editors (WA) (May 2003)
- Presented information about technical writing to an undergraduate professional writing group at Curtin University (April 2003).
- Presented a session/demonstration on Author-it to WAustechwriters group (March 2003)

CSBP Fertilisers

- Delivered 'Author-it Basics' training to development staff (jointly wrote this training course with Char James-Tanny)

Boral CMG

- Trained developer in how to generate online help (CHM) and how to modify existing online help as part of handover of documentation at end of contract

AngloGold Limited

- Facilitated SAP (Generic Training) for Perth office staff.

Computelec

- Trained teaching staff at Aquinas College in basic computer applications and techniques, including Windows file management, PowerPoint, Netscape Composer, SchoolKit, and basic internet searching techniques.

Cawse Nickel Operations

- Trained safety advisers in internet searching techniques.

Ministry of Premier and Cabinet

- Delivered training courses in Internet Searching, PowerPoint, Netscape Mail, and FrontPage 98.

Harman Information Technology Pty Ltd

- Trained school and Department of Education and Training staff in the VETWork web application developed by Harman IT.

Microfusion Pty Ltd

- Responsible for training: As part of my role as National Customer Support Manager, I was responsible for ensuring the delivery of appropriate training courses to all Microfusion customers throughout Australia. In addition to managing this delivery, I was also directly involved in the day-to-day training of clients throughout Western Australia, and training Microfusion staff in Victoria and South Australia.

Department of Education and Training

- My main work as a Teacher-Librarian was in teaching information and research skills to students. This involved all stages of the information process from teaching brainstorming and concept-mapping through to the final production of a piece of work (including bibliographic referencing and note-taking skills to avoid plagiarism). Over 18 years I taught these skills to students from Years 5 to 12, and in-serviced both primary and secondary teaching staff in them.

Web Design Experience

- Wrote content for Health, Environment and Safety web pages for the Gorgon Gateway, an internal website for the Gorgon Gas Development project, 2009-ongoing.
- Redesigned and rewrote the Bridgetown-Greenbushes Chamber of Commerce and Industry website as a volunteer project (2009)
- Redesigned the MRM Mining Services website on behalf of Runge Limited (2009).
- Designed the Scotts Brook website (<http://www.scottsbrook.com.au>; 2007).
- Redesigned the Fractal Technologies website (<http://www.fractaltechnologies.com>; 2007).
- Restructured an internal Wiki for Runge Limited, and wrote new content for it (2007).

Research Experience

Incidental Research

- I have been involved in some form of internet research for all companies I have worked for since 1996. This research has included competitive products, acquiring knowledge about a process, comparisons of software tools (for example, a comparison of PDF creation tools), etc.

Microfusion Pty Ltd

- Responsible for research into competitor products: This research entailed hundreds of hours of internet searching as well as a two week fact-finding trip to the US to investigate competitive products. A further two weeks in the US involved gathering together a focus group of professionals and eliciting ideas from them as to the 'perfect' system.

Department of Education and Training

- My main work as a Teacher-Librarian was in teaching information and research skills to students. This involved all stages of the information process from teaching brainstorming and concept-mapping through to the final production of a piece of work (including bibliographic referencing and note-taking skills to avoid plagiarism). Over 18 years I taught these skills to students from Years 5 to 12, and in-serviced both primary and secondary teaching staff in them.

University

- Skills learned in researching and writing major university assignments are as applicable now as they were then – the media formats may have changed but the process remains the same. Of particular note was my direct involvement in research into the amount of television violence displayed on all Perth television stations over a two week period. A small group of undergraduates took part in analysing every second of taped television footage to codify and quantify every violent action displayed. I believe this research was later used by our US lecturers in papers and/or dissertations they subsequently wrote.
- Research work I undertook while working towards my B.Ed. was also acknowledged in a book on International Librarianship (Recent advances in School Librarianship, Frances Laverne Carroll, Pergamon Press, 1981).

Independent and Team Worker

Library years

I was the sole teacher-librarian in a variety of secondary schools in the early years of my career. In such positions I had to work with no supervision, developing and promoting the libraries and their services to the wider community. All such services were my total responsibility. Later I was fortunate to work with a close-knit team of library professionals, managing their duties. Outside these library situations I was always heavily involved in the wider school community, being part of school management teams and instrumental in the establishment of specific groups such as school Timetable Committees. I was also very involved in professional library associations, being an active member of state and national executive groups for a number of years.

Technical Communication years

At Microfusion I was a member of the Customer Support team and its inaugural Manager. At times I was responsible for up to eight people. My last position at Microfusion was an independent one, responsible directly to the General Manager. My time and activities were my own to manage and I had great autonomy in this role.

At Harman IT, I worked autonomously for the most part. At times I was required to be part of a team of developers in checking the specifications, feasibility studies, etc. for new software, as well as writing the end-user documentation for it.

Some contract positions at WMC Resources Limited required me to be an integral part of a team of 5 to 8 technical writers, following the corporate styles and methods.

In most contract work since 2000, I have been the only technical writer and editor. However, being a lone writer doesn't mean that I work alone - it is critical that I spend time interviewing and gathering information from the subject matter experts so that I can document their processes and procedures correctly.

Since early 2007, I have worked remotely from home with clients around the world using various technologies to communicate with the critical people on a project.

Interpersonal and Communication Skills

Library years

My experience in a wide variety of schools, dealing with everybody from the cleaner to the Principal, enabled me to further develop my natural communication and interpersonal skills. My role as a teacher of students from Year 5 and up, and as a trainer of adults has also improved such skills.

Technical Communication years

In the Customer Support role at Microfusion, almost all communication was done over the phone where it was necessary to describe in words what was happening on a computer screen, as well as interpret what the other person was describing. As a member of the Management Team, I had to communicate with General Managers, CEOs, Board members and Directors.

At Harman Information Technology Pty Ltd, BMS Solutions Pty Ltd, Ramesys Global, Gemcom Australia Pty Ltd, Fractal Technologies, and other software companies I had to be able to interpret 'programmer-speak' into something the end-user could understand. And, where required, I was the usability 'expert' on issues related to the user interface design.

At WMC I had to liaise closely with the Business Process Experts to ensure that the documentation was absolutely correct. In the Ministry of Premier and Cabinet and at Aquinas College, I trained adults with varying degrees of computer competency and interest. At Cawse Nickel Operations, I had to gather very specific procedural information from the leaching and refining field operators, and at Rosendorffs, I had to gather policy, procedure, and sales training information, being ever-mindful of the sensitive and secure nature of much of this material.

Computer Literacy

I am almost entirely self-taught on computers, and am interested in the capabilities of technology and its potential. While I have little interest in the programming side of the IT industry, I love working with applications, trying to get the best out of them, and forever trying to find new ways of using them to make life simpler and more productive. I started working with computer applications in 1984.

I have been an avid user of the Internet since 1995 and have used it extensively in all my work situations as well as for personal interest.

I have a wide variety of experience in different computer applications and operating systems – the major ones are detailed in Computing / Software Skills Summary.
